Basically, there are two issues with this deal. 1. There are no audio files included with the package. The audio track to this DVD is a mediocre track that covers the original stars, so you'll only get one view of these stars and nothing more. 2. There is no English translation included with the package and the video is in Spanish, which again means that the DVD will end up being very difficult to watch. Luckily, this is a very good deal if you just want to look at the cover art and one view of each of the 5 stars on the box. I would not recommend this DVD for anyone who wants to see the stars as they are in the back stage. The difference between enjoying food and merely eating it, on the other hand, is that it is very, very easy to enjoy food. All it takes is a sense of taste, the ability to identify which flavor is strongest in each mouthful, and the interest to seek out those flavors and savor them. —

Simone Brotzmann Imagine you have just eaten a delicious meal for dinner. It was the perfect combination of flavors, but none of the foods was particularly memorable on its own. You have finished your meal and now you are sitting in a quiet restaurant, counting the minutes until the check arrives. The lighting is soft, the music is gentle. It is all very romantic, but you are not in the mood for all that grand romance. Instead, you would just appreciate an arm around your shoulders and a friendly conversation. The type of conversation you could have after dinner with a good friend. That is what you love most about this meal. It was tasty, but not an experience. Now imagine you had the same delicious meal for dinner, but it was accompanied by good conversation. It was good, but not great. The flavors were amazing, but you never really got a chance to really focus on them. It was like having an amazing meal at a fancy hotel restaurant and then arriving home a few hours later. This is what we love about a sommelier. At a good restaurant, he is the food person to be seen. He is there to make sure you eat well. He is there to make sure you enjoy food. The wine pairing is a bonus. It is supposed to help you enjoy your food and make your food taste better, but that is not why we are there. We are there because we love to talk about food. Because in the end, we are what we eat. Back to the romance dinner. I know where you are going with this. You are thinking about the great conversation you had in the restaurant and how much you enjoyed it. You had a moment
